

As one of the world's leading transporter of oil and petroleum products, Enbridge Pipelines recognizes that our current and future success is attributable to our skilled and motivated workforce. Every year we look for ways to inspire our employees to reach their goals and achieve a safe and healthy lifestyle. We had the pleasure to engage Scott Burrows to come to Canada to share his important message of inspiration, attitude and perseverance at our Family Safety Nights. Scott quickly connected to our employees and their spouses and shared his personal story in a way that made us all rethink our choices and attitude towards life. It is sometimes the achievements of those that are most challenged in life that brings new insight and inspiration to our own lives. Scott exceed all of our expectations in both his messages and his impact. We were pleased to be the first company to bring Scott and his wife up to Canada but I know we will not be the last.
