

Dear Scott,

On behalf of all of the staff of the Division of Surgical Services please accept our sincere appreciation for a wonderful and inspiring talk at our Division Communication Meeting on May 7, 2004. Your kindness and generosity of spirit in donating your time to help us celebrate National Nurse's Week will always be remembered. Your message clearly complimented the theme of Nurse's Week "Your Life, Your Voice, Your Health". What an appropriate conclusion to the Nurse's Week activities! You have definitely touched our lives and have given us a renewed outlook in facing the daily challenges as we serve the patients of our community and deal with our personal relationships and professional commitments.

You have a tremendous enthusiasm and passion for life that is quite contagious inspite of the adversity you have faced. You give hope and inspiration to those of us who might just take things for granted such as our health, our jobs, and our loves ones. Your message is very clear, uplifting and on target. It was a privilege to be able to meet you and to have you as our guest speaker during our special week.

Again, thank you so much for sharing your inspiring story!

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "John Bond".

John Bond
Director of Surgical Services
Tampa General Hospital

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Evelyn Jamilosa, RN".

Evelyn Jamilosa
Education Coordinator, Div. of Surgical Services
Tampa General Hospital

Advancing Medicine for 75 Years